An eco-studio with elegance and soul

When Jen Hall and Peter Fry found this property at Katoomba, they imagined a space where a couple could retreat and relax in ethical, elegant style. They also imagined a space for groups to gather for dance, yoga and music. Their imaginings have resulted in The Inner Space.

For a couple seeking a nest in which to rest and explore Katoomba and the Blue Mountains, The Inner Space is a retreat without comparison.

The accommodation has a cosy lounge and kitchen warmed by a wood fire. Upstairs, a king bedroom will inspire a deep sleep. For healing, the infrared sauna is a haven in winter and the ensuite is a stylish oasis for bathing. A sense of calmness pervades, the result of careful thought to every aspect of design. The organic qualities of straw, mud and whitewash are harnessed to great effect.

The flowing waters of the native garden oasis will be your hub for basking in the sun over morning coffee. Being north-facing, warmth is a year-round feature of this retreat.

The other aspect to the Inner Space is the separate studio in the shape of cupped hands that cossets groups on journeys of healing and self-discovery. Of course, even a couple is welcome to meditate in this inspirational space.
